This Narrow Space

Tuesday, October 6, 1 – 2:30 PM (CT)

This free webinar is for healthcare professionals and the public.

Objectives: Dr. Waldman will describe...

- The scope and substance of modern-day palliative care
- The spiritual care role within palliative care framework
- How palliative care approaches may help us provide person and family-centered care more adeptly in context of societal conflict.

Dr. Elisha Waldman MD FAAHPM
Associate Professor of Pediatrics
Feinberg School of Medicine
Division Head, Palliative Care
Lurie Children's Hospital of Chicago
Author, researcher

Dr. Waldman will discuss his experience working as a pediatric oncologist and palliative care provider in Jerusalem, Israel, caring for seriously ill children against a complex ethnic and political backdrop. He'll describe his transition to palliative care clinician within that context and where palliative care fits in that setting. He'll also describe how he thinks the lessons learned in the Middle East transfer to the U.S.
